PLAYBILL 2024-2025 ACADEMY FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

THE ACADEMY

For The Performing Arts
A Program Of Excel Tecc

The Academy for the Performing Arts is a college preparatory program of Excel TECC, serving the 11 high schools' ten school districts in the Mayfield Consortium. Excel TECC offers college preparatory programs within the high school curriculum that keep constant pace with business and industry. The program prepares students for professional employment or continued higher education.

ACADEMY FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

Mission

To provide talented high school juniors and seniors with a joyful, challenging and inspiring training experience in the theatre; an educational and performance experience that builds confidence, courage and mastery in creative self-expression preparing students for high-level college and professional opportunities.

The training students encounter at the Academy will challenge them to know themselves as creative and imaginative individuals. The discoveries and procedures essential to creativity on the stage, are equally vital to all human beings in their daily lives. The courage to create, the confidence to stand calmly before others in stressful situations, the facility to be expressive, the sense of play that makes one young at heart, the wisdom to see the big picture, the rare and essential skill to communicate clearly, the sensitivity to find meaning in relationships and the business of life - these are all real-world benefits of the training at the Academy. At the Academy, we believe creativity in itself is an end. Because by mastering it, the student develops an expansiveness of self and a thriving confidence that can affect and change the world.

2024-2025 marks the seventeenth year of the program. During this season each student will study a wide range of performing arts courses for a half day (morning and afternoon) at the Chagrin Falls High School Performing Arts Center.

GOALS

To provide a comprehensive pre- professional course of study in all aspects of theatre, from literature, technique and history to actual performance.

To create challenging performance opportunities for students to demonstrate acquired skills in the new Performing Arts Center and drama wing. The Academy mounts 8 theatrical plays each year, including plays from many styles of the world theatre - from classical, restoration, modern European theatre, American theatre, and Musical Theatre.

To provide professional, visionary leadership by prominent performing arts educators and professionals who have strong ties to the regional theatre, university system and other professional performing arts venues.

To employ professional artists/ teachers and outstanding, highly credentialed faculty.

To prepare students for post-secondary education in the performing arts and related subjects; assisting with audition, contact, interview support and professional guidance in selecting educational and career opportunities.

MAKE IT BELIEVABLE COURSE LIST

The Actor has three primary concerns; Mind, Will and Sense. If all three are properly engaged, we will develop imaginary circumstances that have been built solely from the imagination. Even in the joyous, larger-than-life Musical or the grand soulful world of Shakespeare or the naturalistic milieu of Chekhov.

We begin with sense; teaching the body to respond to imaginary circumstances that have been built solely from the imagination.

Note from the Director

Alice in Wonderland - Directed by Abraham Adams

I had many imaginary friends as a child. They lived among the flowers in our garden, under the couch cushions, and in the kitchen pantry. Hours were spent telling fantastical stories to myself about these imagined creatures. My mother continues to remind me of my obsession, at the tender age of eight, with multi-colored fuzzy pipe cleaners that I had fashioned into human-like shapes. I called this motley collection of playthings "The Doobie Brothers".

Childhood is a magical and frightening time. We begin to understand some things and are flummoxed by others. Our self-agency begins to grow but much of what happens to us remains out of our control. Wonder abounds yet there can be great fear and trepidation in everyday occurrences. Some might argue that these very descriptions might also apply to the experience of adulthood. We may eventually leave the world of Wonderland as adults but through the power of theater we can sometimes come back for a visit.

I hope you enjoy our whimsical and wild production that features a stellar cast of hardworking young artists. Thank you for supporting arts education.

Sincerely,

Abraham Adams

Twelfth Night

Directed by Abraham Adams

Set in a topsy-turvy world like a holiday revel, this comedy devises a romantic plot around separated twins, misplaced passions, and mistaken identity. Juxtaposed to it is the satirical story of a self-deluded steward who dreams of becoming “Count Malvolio” only to receive his comeuppance at the hands of the merrymakers he wishes to suppress. The two plots combine to create a farce touched with melancholy, mixed throughout with seductively beautiful explorations on the themes of love and time, and the play ends, not with laughter, but with a clown’s sad song.’
